Department of Anthropology | Undergraduate Summer Research Grants Application

By submitting an application, you authorize department staff to examine your academic transcripts and to consult with appropriate faculty and staff regarding your project and your qualifications.

For questions about student grants or about the application, please contact Tina Jeon, Undergraduate Student Services Officer at tajeon@stanford.edu (Bldg. 50-51N).

Please submit your application to Tina Jeon via email at tajeon@stanford.edu as a single Word attachment no later than February 15. Grants ranging from $1,000 - $5,000 will be awarded to students, depending on the quality of applications submitted and the funds available. Awards will be announced by the first week of spring quarter.

Please check the name of research grant for which you are applying:

Franz Boas Scholars grant

Michelle Z. Rosaldo grant

Franz Boas Summer Scholars

Through the special Franz Boas fund, students may apply for funding of any anthropological research, including research in the subfields of linguistics, archaeology, ethnology, and biological anthropology. Students must work with a faculty advisor appointed in the Department of Anthropology throughout the research period, apply for a supplemental grant from Undergraduate Advising and Research, and submit a non-medical human subjects protocol for approval. Franz Boas Summer Scholars grants are awarded for field research conducted in the summer. Grant recipients must enroll in ANTHRO 93, Pre-field Research Seminar, in the spring quarter before departing for the summer field research and in ANTHRO 94, Post-field Research Seminar, in the autumn quarter after returning from the summer field research. On notification of a funding award, Boas Summer Scholars must write a letter to the donor explaining briefly how their grant funds will be used and how this project will contribute to the student's education and future goals. Stanford undergraduates who will be returning to Stanford University to matriculate in the following autumn quarter as undergraduates or Coterminal Masters students are eligible to apply. Priority will be given to honors candidates majoring in Anthropology.

Michelle Z. Rosaldo

A memorial fund which will be used for an annual award to a Stanford undergraduate to aid in carrying out summer ethnographic field research. Students must work with a faculty advisor appointed in the Department of Anthropology throughout the research period, apply for a supplemental grant from Undergraduate Advising and Research, and submit a non-medical human subjects protocol for approval. Preference will be given to projects concerning issues in feminist thought or symbolic anthropology. Michelle Z. Rosaldo grants are awarded for field research conducted in the summer. Grant recipients must enroll in ANTHRO 93, Pre field Research Seminar in the spring quarter before departing for the summer field research and in ANTHRO 94, Post field Research Seminar in the autumn quarter after returning from the summer field research. On notification of a funding award, Rosaldo Summer Scholars must write a letter to the donor explaining briefly how their grant funds will be used and how this project will contribute to the student's education and future goals. Stanford undergraduates who will be returning to Stanford University to matriculate in the following autumn quarter as undergraduates or Coterminal Masters students are eligible to apply. Priority will be given to honors candidates majoring in Anthropology.

Application Materials:

___ Research proposal with title (no more than 3 pages, single or double-spaced)

The proposal should describe the specific goal of the research and its relation to a larger anthropological issue. It should outline a methodology of the project, plans for analysis, and the format for writing up the research results.

___ Itinerary (no more than 1 page, single or double-spaced)

The itinerary should detail a schedule with specific dates for travel and data collection (or training) and a schedule with monthly goals for analysis and write-up. Please attach a separate map showing the route you propose. Generally, grant recipients spend 6 to 8 weeks in data collection.

___ Budget (no more than 1 page, single or double-spaced)

The budget should itemize all expected expenses, including transportation, room and board, research materials (including photocopying), research assistance (including a translator), human subjects compensation, training program fees, and other miscellaneous items. Students are urged to look for inexpensive and safe alternatives. If expenses exceed available funding, students should indicate where else they are applying for funds (e.g., UAR or area study grants), and also include the budget in the application. Students may be asked to resubmit their budget based on confirmation of funding from other sources.

___ Qualifications for carrying out the study (no more than 1 page, single or double-spaced)

The description of qualifications should explain how past coursework (list course numbers & titles), extra-curricular activities and/or language abilities prepare the student to conduct this particular research project or training program. If you have not already completed such coursework, list course numbers you intend to complete before leaving to conduct research.

Please check all of the following as they apply to you:

I realize that it is my responsibility to make all travel arrangements.

I already have a passport valid for 6 months beyond my return date (as required by U.S. Law).

I will apply for (or renew) my passport well before my scheduled departure.

I understand that it is my responsibility to arrange for accident, illness, and equipment insurance (if applicable) for the time period of my travels.

I understand that it is also my responsibility to research and procure such immunizations or travel medicine as may be recommended or required for the places I will visit.

If funded by the Boas or Rosaldo grant, I understand that I am required to take ANTHRO 93- Prefield Research Seminar, or ANTHRO 93B- Prefield Research Seminar for non-majors in the spring quarter before departing for the summer field research, and ANTHRO 94- Postfield Research Seminar in the autumn quarter after returning from the summer field research.

On notification of a funding award, I will write a "thank you" letter to the donor explaining briefly how my grant funds will be used and how this project will contribute to my education and future goals.

Upon completion of my research, I will write a "thank you" letter to the donor explaining briefly how my grant funds were used and how this project contributed to my education and academic goals.

I do not plan to pursue honors, or my honors thesis is unrelated to this project proposal.

I have applied to an honors program in _____ (name of program/department), and my thesis will be based on this project.

If funded by the Boas or Rosaldo grant, I agree to submit a Final Report, such as a written paper (5 pages of text) or poster board for public display by the end of my first quarter back on campus and to speak about my summer field research experiences at campus informational meetings for next year's applicants.

My plans  do/  do not require Human Subjects approval. If required, I realize that it is my responsibility to apply for approval well in advance of the time I would begin my travel and study. Visit <http://humansubjects.stanford.edu/> for more information.

I hereby apply for an Undergraduate Research Grant for academic year _____.
The information I have given in this application is complete and accurate to the best of my knowledge.
